

Dr. Natasha Flake

Natasha M. Flake, DDS, PhD, MSD is President of the American Association of Endodontists. Dr. Flake earned a BS in Biological Sciences from the University of Missouri, a DDS and PhD in neuroscience from the University of Maryland, and an MSD and Certificate in Endodontics from the University of Washington. Dr. Flake is a Professor in the Department of Endodontics at the University of Washington School of Dentistry, where she is the Director of Predoctoral Endodontics and Associate Dean for Clinical Affairs. Her academic interests include mechanisms of pain, endodontic outcomes, and oral health care for rural and underserved populations. Dr. Flake has been honored locally and nationally for her teaching. Dr. Flake is a Diplomate of the American Board of Endodontics. She resides in Seattle, Washington with her spouse and three children.